

Kurier, 18 September 2004

Waldzell Meeting

KURIER Readers Participated with Scholarships

The jury had a hard time to decide. For the Waldzell Meeting at Melk Abbey almost 50 KURIER readers had applied for the six scholarships, representing a value of EUR 14.400. Their reasons were manifold: To have a talk with the inventor of „Flow“ for a PhD on job satisfaction. To obtain new approaches for working with disabled children. To discuss issues of constitutional law with Peace Nobel Prize laureate Shirin Ebadi.

Six excellent candidates were invited by Sören Buschmann, human resources consultant with Strametz & Partners, Katharina Fischer-Ledenice, manager of Hernstein Management Institute, and Daniela Davidovits, editor of the KURIER career section.

PR consultant Mag. Karin Schmollgruber, born in Chile, was keeping a diary of the meeting on her internet site. In his work for the police Josef Holzberger deals with crises such as the taking of hostages. Mountain farmer Mario Bacher studies for an external degree in economics. Dipl. Ing. Cornelia Kawann deals with technical problems in the power trade. In May logistics expert Mag. Stefan Pleger visited Darfur (Sudan) with the first relief teams of Médecins Sans Frontières. Dr. Karl Traxler works for the Caritas St. Pölten and is in charge of the sections social counseling and refugee assistance.